Avineon Expands Geospatial and Engineering Services with Appointment of Business Development Executive

Alexandria, Va. – Feb. 27, 2007 – Avineon, Inc., a successful provider of IT, geospatial, engineering and program management services, today announced the addition of Steve Evans as a business development executive within the company's Geospatial and Engineering Services division. Evans holds more than 20 years of technical and sales experience and has a strong record of consistently growing company revenues by multi-million dollar figures. Based out of Avineon's Clearwater, Fla. office, Evans will play a central role in driving Avineon's business development and maximizing growth objectives in new and existing markets.

Evans possesses an extensive background in sales, business development and operations management. He has held a number of senior leadership positions at domestic and international companies including Utility Automation Integrators, Inc., SECON Pvt. Ltd., Kinetic Solutions, LLC, AGRA Baymont, Inc. and South Carolina Electric & Gas Co.

"Steve's demonstrated ability in the delivery of geospatial solutions among a diverse field of companies will provide value to Avineon as we look to maximize growth," said Gary Wilkison, vice president of geospatial and engineering services for Avineon. "He has the technical and sales experience to facilitate our drive to becoming the leader across all the markets we serve."

Evans is an active member of the Geospatial Information and Technology Association (GITA), a nonprofit education association serving the global geospatial community, and served as president of the organization's Florida chapter in 2001 and 2002. Avineon will be exhibiting at GITA's Annual Conference and Exhibition to be held March 4-7, 2007 at the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center in San Antonio. Company executives, including Evans, will be available at booth 417 to discuss the company's geospatial and engineering services.

“Avineon is positioned for significant growth as the company is backed by fifteen years of experience and posted record numbers in 2006,” said Evans. “I am excited to be joining Avineon at such an important and exciting time and look forward to utilizing my business development and operations experience in the geographic information systems market to fuel future growth.”
