Avineon Appoints Linda Hall as DoD/DHS Business Development Executive

Alexandria, Va. – April 7, 2009 – Avineon, Inc., a successful provider of IT, geospatial, engineering and program management solutions, today announced that Linda B. Hall has been appointed as Business Development Executive for Defense and Homeland Security. Hall brings to her position more than 30 years of technology sales and marketing experience to generate new business and maintain customer relationships within Avineon's Federal Systems division.

"We are pleased to have someone of Linda's caliber join Avineon to help support our growth initiatives," said Hee Sun Choung, senior vice president of Avineon's Federal Systems Division. "Her breadth of experience in the federal IT field will prove beneficial as we continue our work with federal agencies and pursue additional contracts."

Prior to joining Avineon, Hall served as Director of Business Development for a technology solutions company where she led business development activities for the Department of Defense, as well as civilian agencies, and was responsible for a range of government-wide acquisition contracts (GWACs). Previously, Hall held account manager positions for civilian agencies and was a partner executive involved in direct sales and OEM sales.

Hall began her career working for the U.S. House of Representatives' Committee on House Administration. Over a span of 25 years, she had several roles within the committee, including technical advisor to members of Congress and their staff members on high-level information technology issues.

"Avineon's wide range of services and solutions combined with its excellent customer service have enabled the company to remain successful within the federal contracting industry," said Hall. "I look forward to utilizing my experience and working with the Avineon team to bring new strategies and successes to the Federal Systems division."
